

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

October 2, 2008

S. 3350

A bill to provide that claims of the United States to certain documents relating to Franklin Delano Roosevelt shall be treated as waived and relinquished in certain circumstances

As reported by the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs on September 24, 2008

S. 3350 would waive the federal government's claims to certain documents related to the administration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt (FDR) if the papers are donated as gifts to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA). Currently, the federal government is in negotiations with private parties on the ownership of the Tully Archive (Miss Grace Tully was FDR's personal secretary), which includes 5,000 documents, 100 personal letters, and other historical effects.

CBO estimates that implementing S. 3350 could expedite the donation of the collection to NARA. The donation would provide a tax deduction for the private party that currently owns the archive. While the value of that deduction is uncertain, CBO estimates that over time this legislation would have no significant net effect on federal revenues because the collection probably would be donated at some point without enactment of the bill.

S. 3350 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.
